NEWS AND COMMENT.

LET us repeat that GRISSOM must go—go he shall.

FRANK HATTON is going in tooth and toe-nail for the civil service humbug.

CONGRESSMAN EWART from the mountain district is for MCKINLY for speaker.

THE Western Union seems to be getting the best of the fight with WANNAMAKER.

THE BROWER-Speakership boom has been resuscitated in Washington at the seat of war.

AN extra session of Congress to convene about October 1st is looked upon as a certainty in Washington.

SOUTH Carolina's first bale of cotton was marketed at Charleston, last Saturday, by MIKE BROWN, of Barnwell.

TOM KEOGH of the 5th district wants the clerkship of the next House, and is "setting his pegs" accordingly.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN gets 1 year in jail for his fight with KILRAIN, though he has been granted a one thousand dollar bail.

YOU'LL hear something "drap" in Raleigh before another issue of the OBSERVER reaches its destination. Mark the prediction!

THE negroes are making it hot for CHEATHAM on account of his refusal to "stand up" for BROWER for the speakership.

IF all reports are true, the administration at this writing is "on the wing," and little is being done at the Seat of War except the routine business.

OLD FRED DOUGLAS'S appointment to Hayti still hangs fire, waiting to see whether Hyppolite or Legitime will come out on top in the struggle now in progress.

MADAM RUMOR says that ex-Attorney General GARLAND has been engaged by the Northern Pacific Railroad to look after their legal interests in Washington city at a salary of $25,000 a year.

BILL WHEELER'S appointment to the Post Mastership of Winston has poisoned greatly the political atmosphere in the 5th district, and it will next be in order to hear from Charley Reynolds's committee "on propositions and grievances."

THE "latest novelty" is Dr. EUGENE KISSAM'S candidacy for Congress from the Raleigh district. Politics and kissing would go right well together with the Dr. If we are not mistaken he ran for Congress once before. But running was all. Unlike SHAKESPEARE, however, the Dr. likes to repeat.

THE plan now is to gather together from among the three Republicans from this State, the three from Tennessee, the one from Louisiana and the four from Missouri a group strong enough to snap its fingers at the Republican caucus, and insist on getting more substantial recognition before surrendering.

BUSINESS failures occurring throughout the country number for the United States 181, and for Canada 32, or a total of 213, as compared with a total of 201 last week, and 210 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year, the figures were 219, made up of 187 in the U. S. and 32 in Canada.

THE Encampment edition of the Wilmington Messenger is like all other journalistic undertakings of Brother BONITZ—"A thing of beauty and a joy forever." Every member of the N. C. State Guard should have a copy. The publication of such a paper deserves well at the hands of Wilmingtonians and a generous public.

THE Star says Mr. A. S. WISHART, of Lumberton, N. C., has quite a curiosity in the money line—an old continental fifty-cent bill. It bears on its face the following: "N. C. Currency, No. 1836. Half a Dollar. By Authority of Congress at Halifax, April 2d, 1776. J. Webb." In the lower left-hand corner is a representation of a cock-fight.

ASHEVILLE is just now enjoying a genuine sensation, arising from a suit brought for $5,000 damages—brought by REBECCA RICE against JESSE R. STARNES and others, who are undertakers, to recover damages for the removal from the county, by the defendants, of the body of REBECCA RICE'S mother. Two questions are involved, there being the right of the child for the removal and disinterment of the body of the mother, and whether there is property in the dead body after death.

"SUNSET" COX, of New York, has just returned from an extended tour of the four new States which he was so influential in making by passing the omnibus enabling act through the last Congress. He is enthusiastic in his praise of the people and prospects of the new States. He says he talked no politics while out there, but having an old-time habit of keeping his eyes and ears wide open, his observations lead him to believe that Washington will certainly go Democratic, and, if the opinions of well-informed people count for anything, so will Montana.

LATEST NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD.

The State Firemen's Association will be held in Charlotte next year. ——At a meeting in Kenansville, recently, the ladies of that good old county—Duplin—were requested by the Duplin County Veterans' Association to form a Monumental Association, with a view to erecting a suitable monument commemorative of those sons of the county who died in the defense of the rights of their State. ——The North Carolina Teachers' Assembly sailed from Europe for the American shores on the 16th. ——The Commissioners of Duplin issued an order on the first Monday in this month for the rebuilding of the jail which was burned some time ago. ——Counterfeit silver dollars are being circulated at Asheville, two men being engaged in this business. ——The prospects of a good tobacco crop west of the Blue Ridge are excellent. Only four and a half inches of rain fell in that section during June and July. ——News was received to-day from the Golden Belt of Tobacco, in Vance and Granville counties, to the effect that the farmers are agreeably surprised at the cures of leaf. The cures are far better than was expected by the most sanguine. ——John Hollenworth, of Nash county, owns a shepherd dog which goes into his tobacco-field, turns up the leaves of the plants with his nose, and catches the tobacco-worms and eats them. ——The Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Insane Asylum has ordered a copy of the charges and vote on such charges in the recent asylum investigation to be furnished to Governor Fowle, his Excellency having requested such action. ——The Sanford Express reports a boiling well at Jackson Springs, Moore county. The noise of the boiling water can be heard at some distance. ——Capt. E. B. Englehard, of Raleigh, has been elected President of the State Firemen's Association. ——Four hundred sheep passed through Winston one day this week. ——The Odell Manufacturing Company, of Concord, will build a branch railroad from their mills to the R. & D. Railroad. ——Charles Dudley Warner, the famous writer, is at Blowing Rock, N. C. ——Gov. Fowle has appointed T. B. Womack, of Chatham, a Director in the N. C. Insane Asylum to succeed Dr. Haigh, of Fayetteville—resigned. ——Dr. Geo. L. Kirby, of Goldsboro, has been appointed a Director of the Asylum at Raleigh to succeed Dr. Jackson, of Columbus. ——W. H. Allen, for many years master of transportation of the Carolina Central railway, has resigned. ——It is learned that Robert Hancock, the new Collector of Customs at Newberne, has appointed his son to the deputy collectorship. The republicans are indignant. ——The Governor has granted a requisition from the Governor of South Carolina for Frank Allsbrook, who is in jail at Rockingham, and is wanted for murder committed in Sumpter county, S. C. ——Walter Chatham, supervisor of the work on the Wilkesboro railway extension, was fatally cut by an Irish laborer while attempting to prevent a fight between the latter and a negro. Chatham has died from the effects of his wound. ——Work on the Pantego and Albemarle railroad is progressing slowly on account of excessive rains. ——Prof. Chas. A. Webb, of Warren county, who graduated at the University last June, has accepted a position in the Asheville graded schools. ——B. C. Secrist, of Union county, was thrown from his horse and killed, though death was not immediate, one day of the past week. ——Dispatches from Texas report that a bloody fight has taken place at Richmond in that State, between two political factions, white and black; a sheriff and deputy were killed and several others wounded; troops have been sent to the scene. ——The one hundred and third anniversary of the birthday of Davy Crockett was celebrated at his old home in Tennessee last Saturday, the 17th. ——William Shaw, Vice President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, died in Paris recently; he was worth $30,000,000, and was a true philanthropist. ——Deputy Marshal Nagle, who killed Judge Terry, has been released from jail on a writ of habeas corpus. ——John Randolph is reported quite ill at Lexington, Va. —— The Durham Recorder is to be merged into a Semi-Weekly.

A Card from Dr. Fuller.

My attention has been called to the following article in Webster's Weekly of August 13th:

"We learn from the most reliable authority that Dr. Fuller, First Assistant Physician at the Raleigh Insane Asylum, congratulated Dr. Grissom on his acquittal after the trial, saying that his sympathies were with him during the trial, and that the cause of the trial was Dr. Grissom's disregard of his (Fuller's) protest in making Rogers Second Assistant Physician."

I feel it to be my duty to enter my positive and emphatic denial to the above statement. I never at any time extended congratulations to Dr. Grissom on his acquittal, or said to him or any one else that my sympathies were with him during the trial. Neither did I say that the trial was because my wishes were disregarded, nor did I protest against the election of Dr. Rogers as Second Assistant Physician for the best of reasons, viz, because Dr. Rogers was elected before I knew anything of it. After the election I did say to Dr. Grissom that I had not been treated right in the matter.

I thought that no one who was to fill a situation so intimately with myself ought to have been elected without giving me an opportunity of expressing an opinion. I had no objection to the election of Dr. Dr. Rogers. During the recent trial, because of sickness and business, nor since, because I have been quite sick and confined at home, have I been able to read a connected account of the trial. I understand that I was represented by counsel for the defense as endorsing such ase of mechanical restraints as were referred to in the charges. In my thirty-three years of service at the asylum I have never practiced restraint as a matter of punishment, and of late years I have come to believe in the policy of non-restraint, not having, in the last four or five years used mechanical restraint exceeding three times.

The Relief of the Siege of Lucknow.

[The following gem of pure English, faultless imagery and exquisite feeling has been called to our attention by a gentleman of excellent literary taste. It is a selection from the revised edition of McGuffey's incomparable Fifth Reader, and was written by a lady to the London Times:—a graphic description of the eventful arrival of Sir Colin Campbell and his brave Highlanders to the relief of the 4,500 besieged in Lucknow, during the memorable Sepoy Insurrection of British India.]

On every side death stared us in the face; no human skill could avert it any longer. We saw the moment approach when we must bid farewell to earth, yet without feeling that unutterable horror which must have been experienced by the unhappy victims at Cawnpore. We were resolved to die rather than yield, and were fully persuaded that in twenty-four hours all would be over. The engineer had said so, and all knew the worst. We women strove to encourage each other, and to perform the light duties which had been assigned to us—such as conveying orders to the batteries, and supplying the men with provisions, especially cups of coffee, which we prepared day and night.

I had gone out to try and make myself useful, in company with Jessie Brown, the wife of a corporal in my husband's regiment. Poor Jessie had been in a state of restless excitement all through the siege, and had fallen away visibly within the last few days. A constant fever consumed her, and her mind wandered occasionally, especially that day, when the recollections of home seemed powerfully present to her. At last, overcome with fatigue, she lay down on the ground, wrapped in her plaid. I sat beside her, promising to awaken her when, as she said, her "father should return from the plowing."

She fell at length into a profound slumber, motionless and apparently breathless, her head resting in my lap. I myself could no longer resist the inclination to sleep, in spite of the continual roar of the cannon. Suddenly I was aroused by a wild, unearthly scream close to my ear; my companion stood upright beside me, her arms raised, and her head bent forward in the attitude of listening.

A look of intense delight broke over her countenance; she grasped my hand, drew me toward her, and exclaimed: "Dinna ye hear it? Dinna ye hear it? Ay! I'm no dreaming; it's the slogan o' the Highlanders! We're saved! We're saved!" Then flinging herself on her knees, she thanked God with passionate fervor. I felt utterly bewildered; my English ears caught only the roar of artillery, and I thought my poor Jessie was raving; but she darted to the batteries, and I heard her cry incessantly to the men: "Courage! Courage! Hark to the slogan—to the MacGregor, the grandest of them a'! Here's help at last!

To describe the effect of these words upon the soldiers would be impossible. For a moment they ceased firing, and every soul listened with intense anxiety. Gradually, however, there arose a murmur of bitter disappointment; and the wailing of the women, who had flocked to the spot, burst out anew as the colonel shook his head. Our dull Lowland ears heard only the rattle of musketry. A few moments of this death-like suspense, this agonizing hope, and Jessie, who had again sunk on the ground, sprang to her feet, and cried, in a voice so clear and piercing that it was heard along the whole line: "Will ye no believe it noo? The slogan has ceased, indeed, but the Campbells are comin'! D'ye hear? D'ye hear?

At that moment all seemed indeed to hear the voice of God in the distance—for now there was no longer any doubt of the fact. That shrill, penetrating, ceaseless sound, which rose above all other sounds, could come neither from the advance of the enemy nor from the work of the sappers. No, it was indeed the blast of the Scottish bagpipes, now shrill and harsh, as threatening vengeance on the foe, then in softer tones, seeming to promise succor to their friends in need.

Never, surely, was there such a scene as that which followed. Not a heart in the residency of Lucknow but bowed itself before God. All, by one simultaneous impulse, fell upon their knees, and nothing was heard but bursting sobs and the murmured voice of prayer. Then all arose, and there rang out from a thousand lips a great shout of joy, which resounded far and wide, and lent new vigor to that blessed pibroch.

To our cheer of "God Save The Queen," they responded by the well-known refrain that moves every Scott to tears, "Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgot?" After that nothing else made any impression on me. I scarcely remembered what followed. Jessie was presented to the general on his entrance into the fort, and at the officers' banquet her health was drunk by all present, while the pipers marched around the table, playing once more the familiar air of "Auld Lang Syne."

The Pyramids.

The ancient Egyptians were better builders than those of the present day. There are blocks of stone in the Pyramids which weigh three or four times as much as the obelisk in Central Park. There is one stone, the weight of which is estimated at 880 tons. There are stones thirty feet in length, which fit so closely together that a pen-knife may be run over the surface without discovering the break between them. They are not laid with mortar, either. We have no machinery so perfect that it will make two surfaces thirty feet in length which will meet in unison as the stones in the Pyramids meet. It is supposed that they were rubbed forward and backward upon each other until the surfaces assimilated.

At Morehead City.

W. H. Blount in Wilson Mirror.]

He—Why, it is growing quite dark. You can hardly distinguish people at the hotel.

She—And rather cool, too. I ought to have something round me.

He (with a familiar movement of his arm)—That's so!—

Don't Swear.

W. H. Blount in Wilson Mirror.]

Do not swear. There is no occasion to swear outside of a printing-office. It is useful in proof-reading, is indispensable in getting forms to press, and has also been known to assist in looking over the paper after it is printed—but otherwise it is a very disgusting habit.

The remembrance of injuries only is lasting.

Faithful in Little.

Youth's Companion.]

While Thomas Scott, the president of a great American railway, was traveling in England, he was struck with the care given to beautifying the grounds about the railway stations. The trees, vines and rose gardens contrasted strongly with the disorderly clay "yards" which he had been accustomed to see in America. On his return in the early spring Mr. Scott gave a sum of money to each station master on the Pennsylvania Railway to be spent in beautifying the grounds. The amount was proportioned to the importance and size of the stopping place, and a reward was offered to the man who should make the best use of the money thus received. In August the reward was given to the keeper of a little country station, much to the chagrin of some masters of larger ones, who thought that the grounds were much more beautiful and picturesque.

"This man," said Mr. Scott, "received but a few dollars; you, ten times as much. He has used every penny with discretion, and has not spared his own labor. The reward is given not to the man with the largest opportunities, but to him who makes the best use of such opportunities as he has."

The justice of the principle thus laid down is self evident; the principle itself is abundantly insisted upon in the Blibe; but it is too often forgotten or ignored.

"If I had Jem's brains, I too, would study and be at the head of the class," says the dull boy in school. "If I had beauty and cleverness like other girls," the plain or backward daughter of the family reflects, "I, too, would be charming and beloved."

An obscure woman, reading in the newspaper lately the account of the death of the martyr priest, Damien, who sacrificed his life to the lepers in Molokai, and of the enthusiastic reception given to the English captain, Murrell, in this country, exclaimed: "To how few of us comes the opportunity to soothe the tortures of a whole community shut into a living death, or to rescue 700 shipwrecked people in mid ocean. Yet how many would gladly do it."

She forgot that however blind the world may be, the Judge of all knows what use we have made of such chances for self-sacrifice as have been given to us. To him the chances count for little; "the readiness" to do, and the doing, even under the humblest conditions—these secure God's approval.

The Midnight Mountain Train.

Luke Sharp at Round Knob.]

"Come out on the verandah," said Col. Sprague, "and see the midnight train; it is about due now, and to see it come down the mountain is a sight not to be missed." We all went out on the broad piazza of the hotel, which is situated right beside the railway track, and the train which we were to get the first sight of, about a mile above us, would have to pass within a few feet of where we stood when it had completed its descent.

The night was very dark, and there was a rumble of thunder over the pinnacle point of the Blue Ridge, but the air was luminous with myriads of fire-flies, looking like the phosphorescent track that follows a vessel on the ocean. The roar of the Little Catawba River over the rocks was very soothing and musical. Not a sound of the coming train could be heard, because it was not yet through the tunnel; in fact, the intimation we had of its approach was not through sound but sight.

With a startling suddenness a great pine tree high on the mountain-top stood out in bright relief, as if it had been thrown against the mountain-side by a tremendous stereopticon. It looked like a tree of silver, and was illuminated by the white headlight of the locomotive. Then another tree, and another, and another, stood out on the mountain-side, and finally the rugged, rocky outlines of the cutting were illuminated like a scene from Switzerland thrown against the dark mountain-side of North Carolina.

Then came the train with its long, gleaming row of glittering windows, made all the more startlingly plain by the dense darkness of the night. The mountain background acted as a great sounding-board, and sent the roar of the train across the valley, where it was echoed by the hills on the other side of us, and thrown back again in a perfect Niagara of sounds. After a moment the train disappeared as completely as if the earth had swallowed it up. The hills still reverberated with its coming, but that sound, too, died away; and, although everyone listened intently, there was not a rumble to disclose its whereabouts. Then we had a second broadside view of the rushing train, and the long procession of lights once more crossed the mountain-side, but lower down than we had first seen it. Again the thunder of its wheels awoke the echoes of mountain and valley, and then it plunged into oblivion as if it had been blotted out of existence.

RIVERS AND HARBORS.

Appropriations Recommended for North and South Carolina Waters.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—A supplemental report has been made by Capt. F. V. Abbott to the chief of engineers upon the work in Charleston Harbor. The project upon which work is now being prosecuted contemplates the construction of two jetties from Morris and Sullivan's Islands. Built up to low water mark, these jetties are estimated to cost $4,380,500; to three feet above low water, $5,345,800. There have already been expended $1,473,669. For next year an appropriation of $750,000 is recommended.

For other improvements, Capt. Abbott recommends the following sums:

Lumber River, $30,000.
Mingo Creek, $12,000.
Clear Creek, $5,000.
Edisto River, $5,000.
Little Pee Dee River, $45,000.
Great Pee Dee River, $50,000.
Santee River, $20,000.
Wateree River, $12,500.
Congaree River, $39,500.
Wappo Cut, $55,000.
Waccamaw River, North and South Carolina, $73,000.

The largest hotel in the United States, and probably the largest in the world, is located at San Francisco, Cal. It is nine stories high and cost $3,500,000. It is named the Palace and has accommodations for 1,500 guests.

$500 Offered for an incurable case of catarrh by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Remedy. 50 cents, by druggists.

Healing Virtues of Ocean Air.

The curative value of ocean climate in many diseased conditions of the human body is strikingly demonstrated by Dr. Gihon, a medical director of the navy, in the Philadelphia Medical News. He argues that the slowly convalescent, from whatever disease—protracted fever, nervous weakness, incipient pulmonary trouble or overwork—recuperate with marvellous rapidity during a pleasant ocean voyage.

Dr. A. N. Bell in the same journal presents some remarkable statistics, showing the beneficial influence of ocean air on a stated population. Taking the population of Turk's and Caicos islands, in the tropics, as the basis of his researches, he finds that in ten years the average annual death rate from consumption and all other pulmonary diseases was about three in one thousand.

This is a very low degree of mortality, but not lower than has been observed among sailors breathing sea air most of their lives. In 1856 Boudin, a medical authority, showed that while deaths from phthisis in the British army varied from nine to twelve in a thousand, in the British navy, from 1830 to 1856 inclusive, the deaths from that fell disease were less than two in a thousand.

Yet too much must not be credited to the therapy of marine climates. Much of the benefit supposed to be derived from the air of the seaside resort is due to the rest, freedom from care and the outdoor exercise taken there. If these are omitted sea air has no sovereign restorative virtue.

Where the Ordinary Man Fails.

Chicago Herald.]

How few men there are who can successfully lay and light a fire. There are many who are able to lay and light it, but the results are usually painful to the patient house-wife. She may send her husband to the kitchen in the morning to start the fire, feeling confident that she can steal a half hour more of that comfortable doze which comes only with the dawn, but it is an even bet that the smell of burning wood will reach her nostrils sooner or later, and she will be obliged wearily to don her garments and grope her way down stairs to the rescue of her well meaning but unsuccessful other half, who, with his lungs full of the odor of burnt wood and the smoky tears running down his cheeks, is usually found engaged in endeavoring to put life into three sparks with his breath. The only men who are successful in starting fires are the professional fire builders employed in the hotels, and when the ordinary man becomes a hotel guest and reposes in a warm couch on a cold morning, and sees how easily the hotel fireman does the work, he realizes what a veritable chump he is himself.

A Kiss in the Dark.

St. Louis Republican.]

Horace Vernet, the artist, was going from Versailles to Paris by railway. In the same compartment with him were two ladies whom he had never seen before, but who were evidently acquainted with him. They examined him minutely, and commented freely on his martial bearing, his hale old age, the style of his dress, etc. They continued their annoyance until finally the painter determined to put an end to the persecution. As the train passed through the tunnel of St. Cloud the three travelers were wrapped in complete darkness. Vernet raised the back of his hand to his mouth and kissed it twice violently. On emerging from the obscurity he found that the ladies had withdrawn their attention from him, and were accusing each other of having been kissed by a man in the dark.

Presently they arrived in Paris, and Vernet, on leaving them, said: "Ladies, I shall be puzzled all my life by the inquiry, Which of these two ladies was it that kissed me?"

Cultivate Cheerfulness.

Cheerfulness and a festive spirit fill the soul full of harmony; it composes music for churches and hearts; it makes and publishes glorifications of God; it produces thankfulness and serves the end of charity; and when the oil of gladness runs over it makes bright and tall emissions of light and holy fires, reaching up to the clouds and making joy round about; and, therefore, since it is so innocent, and may be so pious and full of holy advantage, whatsoever can innocently minister to this holy joy does set forward the work of religion and charity. And, indeed, charity itself, which is the vertical top of all religion, is nothing else but a union of joys concentrated in the heart and reflected from all the angles of our life and intercourse. It is a rejoicing in God, a gladness in our neighbor's good, a pleasure in doing good, a rejoicing with him:—and without love we cannot have any joy at all.

Mosquitoes.

Hall's Journal of Health.]

The bill of a mosquito is a complex institution. It has a blunt fork at the head, and is apparently grooved. Working through the groove, and projecting from the angle of the fork, is a lance of perfect form, shaped with a fine bevel. Beside it, the most perfect lance looks like a hand saw. On either side of the lance two saws are arranged, with the points fine and sharp and the teeth well refined and keen. The backs of these saws play against the lance. When the mosquito alights with his peculiar hum, it thrusts its keen lance, and then enlarges the aperture with the two saws, which play beside the lance until the forked bill with its capillary arrangement for pumping blood can be inserted. The sawing process is what grates upon the nerves of the victim, and causes him to strike wildly at the sawyer.

Miss Smith (to her friend Miss Barr, who has made her debut at a musical entertainment)—And you succeeded splendidly, of course?

Miss Barr—Yes, I got along pretty well, but I was considerably disconcerted when somebody in the audience remarked that I had left my voice behind me.

"That was awfully rude."

"Yes, but he was immediately reproved by somebody else, who said: 'Nonsense! She never had any.' That was very kind, don't you know, and I plucked up courage immediately."

PAST AND PRESENT—CUMBERLAND'S REPRESENTATIVES AT THE UNIVERSITY FROM 1789 to 1889.

Decidedly the most interesting and valuable publication ever made by any school or college within the bounds of North Carolina is the Centennial Catalegue, just issued by Hon. KEMP P. BATTLE, President of the State University.

While the publication is a catalogue in one sense of the word, it nevertheless differs very materially from the ordinary school catalogue, in that aside from the fact that it gives the lists of names of the officers and students from 1789 to 1889, it contains a valuable and highly interesting historical sketch of that grand old institution, for which this writer has the warmest love and admiration, covering 63 pages by the President, with 11 full page plates.

In fine, it is an array of famous names, such as few institutions in the United States can produce—names of men who have written their names in words of silver and letters of gold on fame's everlasting scroll; men who have, by their heroism and valor, on fields of battle as well as in peace, brought fame to North Carolina and the whole country, as well as to their alma mater at Chapel Hill.

All hail, then, the name of its worthy President, over whose destinies he has presided with such signal success and marked ability.

Well might our people feel proud of their representation on the roll-call of this time-honored institution, during the past century, many of whom are still with us, while not a few have long since been reduced to the dust from whence they came. They are:

GO HE MUST; GO HE SHALL.

For one, we say Dr. GRISSOM must go, and for one we promise that there shall be no cessation of hostilities on this side, neither shall we cease firing, till the "white flag" is raised.

We do not make this simply as an assertion for assertion's sake, but because we mean it. We mean it because we have given our reasons for the stand the OBSERVER has taken with reference to this question, which, in our judgment, justifies the removal of Dr. GRISSOM. And if all others "quit the drive" we shall keep up the fire, "trusting in God and keeping our powder dry."

One of the strongest points we have seen made by any one thus far is the following from Col. L. L. POLK, of the Progressive Farmer. He says:

Suppose the President of one of our strongest female colleges should be arraigned before his board of trustees on charges of immorality, misappropriation of public property and cruelty. On the testimony, five trustees should vote to acquit him on the charge of immorality, and the remaining three trustees should vote him guilty of the charge. What would be the effect on that institution, if the President should claim that he was acquitted and should remain as President? Would it not be to empty his college and utterly destroy it?

What is the difference between this supposed case and that of our Asylum? One difference is this: that the father could take his child away from the college, but if she should become violently insane, he would either have to send her to the asylum or put her in the jail of his county.

The Progressive Farmer has said that Dr. Grissom and the Board should vacate his office. We reiterate that opinion with emphasis.

Yes, and when you "reiterate," Colonel, you but voice the honest sentiments of ninety-nine out of every hundred people in the State. But continue Dr. GRISSOM as Superintendent, and to use the language of the polished editor of the Charlotte Chronicle, "the interests of the poor helpless insane of the land, upon whom an all-wise God in his infinite wisdom and mercy has seen fit to lay the heavy hand of affliction, and the wishes of the people, will be set at naught, and the buildings, in a very short period, will be so desolate and deserted that the silence will only be broken by the flapping of the wings of the black-winged bats hovering where once the Angel of Charity shed sunshine on the benighted children of God!"

REUNION AT RED SPRINGS.

A Pleasant Trip and Enjoyable Ride—Crops on Line—Pretty Women and Admiring Swains—A Model Crowd.

The excursion train for Red Springs, under command of the polite and efficient conductor, Capt. Chas. W. Kennedy, pulled out from the depot last Saturday morning at 9 o'clock promptly, with about 200 Fayetteville people on board, which number was increased by about as many more at the intermediate stations of Hope Mills, McNatt's, Lumber Bridge and Shandon. The regular morning train up from Bennettsville also brought a large number from that place and the stations along the line—so that, with the people who thronged in by private conveyance from the surrounding country, the crowd in attendance was estimated at from 2,000 to 2,500. All seemed to enjoy themselves until the hour for separation in the evening:—the grayheads in retrospection and the swapping of yarns of the halcyon past, and the young in the joys of the present and roseate dreams of the future, while all refreshed themselves with frequent and copious draughts of the healthful mineral waters. The number of lovely women present was universally commented upon with enthusiasm—fair flowers nurtured beneath the palmetto and the pine—charming, bewitching and refined.

The crowd was a model of excellent deportment, not an instance of intoxication or disorderly conduct marring the enjoyment of the day, and his Honor, Mayor Hector McNeill, who had detailed a special police force, is to be congratulated on the excellent order preserved.

The iron for the completion of the narrow gauge railroad at Red Springs is in hand, with an engine of sufficient power to pull seventy of the biggest logs which that country can produce.

Mr. Covington, of the Scottish Chief, whose energies are ever enlisted for the advancement of his people and section, informed us last Saturday that many were discussing the expediency of enlarging the annual reunion at Red Springs into a horticultural and fruit exhibit, or something of that character. This seems to us entirely feasible, for there is not a more thrifty agricultural community in North Carolina, nor a people more appreciative of the importance of developing their resources.

The corn crop in southern Cumberland and in Robeson, though injured somewhat by the rains, is generally very good, but cotton has been considerably damaged. Agriculture is improving in that section: an intelligent farmer told us that for years he has been making a bale of cotton to the acre, and that this year, notwithstanding the unpropitious seasons, he will make half a bale to the acre; he also stated that he raises more corn and cotton with four plows and ten or twelve hands than his people before him raised with six plows and twenty-five slaves.

PRESENTED TO THE QUEEN.

While in London quite a number of the tourist North Carolina teachers—all the ladies who could muster up toilettes decollettees, and all the gentlemen who possessed, or could beg, hire or borrow, dress-coats, for these alone were en regle for the august eye of royalty—were presented to her Gracious Majesty, the Queen of England, and her daughter, Her Serene Highness, Princess Beatrice.

The master of ceremonies on the part of the teachers, Mr. Harrell, felt doubtless that he had arrived at the summit of earthly beatitude; indeed, his fervid loyalty oozed out, not like Bob Acre's valor—at his heels—but at his knees; and, when about to put himself in osculatory connection with the sacred digitals of the Empress of India, he coupled it with the most profound genuflections, from which posture he was "gently but firmly" raised by Victoria's chamberlain, Col. Ponsonby.

The party were especially favored by the fair Princess Beatrice, who had them conducted in to see the wedding cake, destined to grace the hymeneal table of her sister and the Earl of Fife. The teachers were accompanied to the presentation by Mr. Lincoln, the United States Minister to the Court of St. James, and they all came away very enthusiastic over the graciousness of royalty.

EX-PRESIDENT DAVIS.

The New York Graphic waxes wroth over the fact that Mr. Grady, of the Atlanta Constitution, refers to Mr. Davis as President Davis. Who cares what the Graphic or any other Northern sheet may say about it? Editors of the Graphic sort are not worthy to brush the noble Southron's boots. Of course he is ex-President, and far more than is Hayes ex-President, or Harrison is President. Hayes got in by open, shameless fraud, and Harrison by open, shameless purchase and intimidation. Davis was elected fairly, openly, and almost unanimously.—Wil. Messenger.

Yes, sir, Mr. KINGSBURY, Mr. DAVIS is an ex-President and an honored one too; was elected President of the grandest Republic this world has ever seen, and because of his executive ability, patriotism and statesmanship, and peculiar fitness for the highest office within the gift of a free, sovereign and independent people; and this is more than can be said of the 8 to 7 HAYES or the block-of-five-DUDLY-HARRISON. We entertain no feelings of malice for the Northern editors, but they cannot "throw off" on ex-President JEFFERSON DAVIS, the grand central figure of the 19th century and the GLADSTONE of America! Whenever you "hit" at ex-President DAVIS, we are going to hit back. We can't help it. We are built that way.

Young Men's Christian Association.

Every member of the Young Men's Christian Association is urgently requested to attend the called business meeting to-morrow (Friday) evening, at 8:30 o'clock, as there is business of importance to transact which especially concerns every member of the association, and especially every committee, both individually and collectively. Don't fail to attend.

McKINNEY was nominated on 2nd ballot for Governor of Virginia. There wa good material in the convention—Bierne, McKinny, O'Ferral and such excellent timber.

The Brown-Sequard Elixir, so far from prolonging life, seems of late to be having a holocaust of victims.

The Red Springs Picnic.

For the Observer.]

MR. EDITOR:—It was my privilege to attend the annual picnic at Red Springs on the 17th inst. When I had decided to avail myself of this privilege my anticipations of a good time can be better imagined than described, while memory with its beautiful wand pointed back to the distant past.

A generous public will excuse any apparent extravagance, when I assert that in Robeson I drank most freely of the "Pierian Spring," and in Robeson were many of the friends of my boyhood, well-tried and true. So, like Rasselas, Prince of Abyssinia, after having been driven about by diverse winds upon the sea of life for a season in search of happiness, I longed for a return to those pleasant haunts.

Four coaches, pretty well-filled, left Fayetteville at 9 o'clock. A. M., and to their number were added others at every depot, until about 300 were on our train, and joined in the pleasures of the festal day. About the same number came by train from the other way, and carriages, buggies and wagons supplemented the crowd until it was estimated at from 1,500 to 2,000.

One score years and ten had elapsed since I was young and indulged in gay frolic and happy pastimes with fair daughters and brave sons of this hospitable county, and during the interval many a change had taken place. The iron horse, brimful of energy and red-hot with fury, that measures distance by time instead of money, had put in an appearance. Ten stores and several dwellings, adorned by art, while nature adds her beauties and comforts, mark some of the changes.

I looked around in vain for the cordial greeting of many a friend of long ago. Some had sought other climes in pursuit of wealth, honor and happiness, and I met in their stead their sons and daughters, fully up to the standard of their esteemed parents; some had gone to that "undiscovered bourne whence no traveler returns."

He who fails to have a good time at a Red Springs picnic must lay the fault solely at his own door. SENEX.

Tuesday Night, August 27th,

There will be a MASS MEETING at the Presbyterian Church in the interest of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

Topic for the evening: THE RELATION BETWEEN THE PHYSICAL AND SPIRITUAL SIDE OF A YOUNG MAN'S LIFE. As seen from a layman's standpoint. As seen from a general secretary's standpoint. As seen from a minister's standpoint. Short talks and good singing. The public generally are most cordially invited.

THE ORPHAN'S HOME

Rev. L. B. Payne, Agent and Trustee of the Orphan's Home at Macon, Ga., Writes a Letter Dated February 5th, 1889.

"I have been using Swift's Specific with the children of the orphan's home under my charge with the best results. I began its use between nine and ten years ago, and have seen many remarkable results.

Quite a number of the children had constitutional blood diseases resulting from the sins of the parents and every one of these children were cured of the horrible taint by the use of S. S. S.

There have also been scores of children in the institution whose systems (they having been mostly without the benefits of parental care) were enervated by dirt eating and other foul practices. Every one of these children have taken S. S. S. and all have been signally benefitted by it. All have been cured who have taken enough of it. We have also two inmates of the home, subject to painful recurring attacks of erysipelas. Neither one improved under the treatment usual for the disease. When all other medicines were discarded and they took S. S. S. the cure in each case was quick and permanent, for they have been well for five years and there has been no return of the disease. I could tell much more of the remarkable cures of blood disease by S. S. S., for I have seen it used and know its value.

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at $1 per bottle at B. E. Sedberry's Drugstore.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at B. E. Sedberry's Drug Store as the giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free. Large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

JOHN C. HAIGH, JR.—Statement of the Condition of the Bank of Fayetteville.

Dr. Hunter has just finished a new laboratory for his well-equipped dental office.

Messrs. Royall & Borden have adorned their place of business with a new and attractive sign.

We regret that an interesting account of a recent fox-hunt near Carlos was received too late for publication.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Guthrie beg leave to express their heartfelt appreciation to kind friends for their loving sympathy and kindness to them in this their hour of trouble.

The interior department of Messrs. John Roddick & Co.'s mammoth dry goods and notion store has just been overhauled, remodeled and otherwise beautified by the application of the painter's brush.

Fine Vegetables.

Some of the finest tomatoes we have ever seen have been grown by Capt. J. H. Robinson this season, at his place on Haymount.

On a Visit to Ex-President Davis.

Col. W. J. Green left Saturday last for an extended trip through the Southern States, during which time he will spend several days with ex-President Davis at Beauvoir, Miss.

"In Limbo."

A white man by the name of Mozingo, a somewhat notorious character in the community, has been arrested, charged with setting fire to the warehouse in Campbellton which was destroyed recently.

"Level"-headed.

Mr. Andrew Broadfoot, besides being a good cotton man, is proficient in civil engineering; and has been taking the levels for Capt. D. G. McDuffie, on the survey of the Fayetteville & Aberdeen Railroad.

Gone to Walnut Cove.

Rev. S. R. Trawick, who has been residing here for some time past, has gone to Walnut Cove to take charge of the Walnut Cove High School. Mr. Trawick is a learned gentleman in every sense of the word, and we hope for him a rich reward in his new field of labor.

Will Go to Charlotte.

Mr. John H. Underwood, of this city, has accepted a position with the Richmond & Danville and Carolina Central Railroads, at Charlotte, and will leave for his post of duty about the 1st of September. Mr. Joseph Underwood, Jr., will succeed him in the commission business.

A Narrow Escape.

Col. W. J. Green narrowly escaped a fatal accident on his return home from the city a few evenings since. His horse became frightened, and, despite the driver's efforts, ran away, breaking the carriage into flinders and throwing the Colonel out. Fortunately he sustained only slight injuries, much to the gratification of his friends.

Rowland.

The new town on the Atlantic Coast Line between Fayetteville and Marion, S. C., continues to grow. Last Christmas there stood the depot, a magnificent structure, single-handed and alone, while today, a gentleman of this place, who has just paid a visit to that section, tells us there are there at present about 30 or 40 buildings, including seven or eight stores, and business is going right along.

Meets in Charlotte in 1890.

Mr. Jas. D. McNeill has returned from Raleigh, whither he went to attend the annual Convention of the State Firemen's Association, and informs us that Charlotte was chosen as the place of meeting next year. No better selection could have been made, and the people of Charlotte know how and can be counted on to give "the boys" a royal and open-hearted welcome.

A Wonderful Revival.

The Plain View protracted meeting, in which Rev. Mr. Evans was assisted by Rev. T. P. Barclay, of the Presbyterian Church of this city, during last week, has been attended by the most beneficent results. On Monday afternoon Mr. Barclay received a telegram from Mr. Evans, to the effect that the interest was increasing, and requesting him to return. We learn that within the past few weeks there have been 1,500 conversions in Robeson county.

Union Sunday School Picnic.

At least 1,000 assembled on Wednesday morning, 14th inst., at the old Camp-Ground in Seventy-First township, to participate in the exercises of the Union Sunday School Picnic, made up of the teachers and pupils from McPherson, Highland Grove, Camp-Ground and Central Church es, together with large numbers of invited guests.

The meeting was presided over by Rev. W. A. West, and was opened with prayer by Rev. Thos. Newton, followed by singing. A graceful address of welcome was de livered by Rev. Mr. Edwards, responded to most happily by Mr. C. H. Graham. Then followed an address by Mr. Thomas H. Sutton, edifying the judgment of its hearers by the excellence of the subject matter, and captivating their fancy by the inimitable style of delivery.

Recess was then announced for dinner —of which the appreciation, if not loud, was profound and expressed in a business-like way by those who grouped themselves about the generous board. Surely those people have their "lines cast in pleasant places" who can set forth so delightful a repast.

At 2 o'clock the crowd again assembled, and Mr. H. L. Cook then led off with a talk which was listened to with delight, no whit discrediting his previous fine efforts; then came Mr. Jno. G. Shaw in an excellent and impressive discourse, fraught with the vigor and good sense of the speaker; the exercises concluded with a speech by Dr. J. A. Hodges, who never fails to thrill by his eloquence, while he charms by his fluency and grace.

The town people who were present were delighted with their reception and the unalloyed enjoyment of the day. How could it be otherwise? Those people are as winning in their private relations as they are upright and unbending in their devotion to Democracy. Like Paul at the feet of Gamaliel, they imbibed their political principles from Lauchlin Bethune and the other honored patriarchs of their clans; and from fountains no less pure have they quaffed the inspiration which characterizes their lives with integrity and simplicity.

Susceptible of Misconstruction.

In the obituary notice of the late Rev. J. M. Beasley, which appeared in the issue of last week, the sentence, "He was a de vout member of the Baptist Church, in the pulpit of which he ministered occasionally, though having no regular pastorate," was intended by the writer of the notice to refer only to the church in Fayetteville, but it was understood by some of the readers of the paper to apply to his ministerial work in general. Such a construction of the language used would do especial injustice to the deceased, who gave liberally of his means and devoted his energies to the establishment of ten or twelve churches in North Carolina, while in the regular pastorate and ministry he labored piously, until feeble health bade him await with resignation the summons of the Master.

The Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry.

This "crack" military corps of North Carolina will celebrate its 96th anniversary next Friday by a target practice, presentation of prizes and street parade. The handsome prizes have been for the past few days exhibited in the show-window of Messrs. W. Prior & Son's jewelry establishment on Hay street. The prizes will be presented by Mr. N. A. Sinclair, in front of the Hotel LaFayette, at 6:30 o'clock P. M.

The company will meet at the armory at 2 P. M., elect officers, and proceed to the shooting-grounds. Arter the presentation they will return to the armory, stack arms, and march to the Hotel LaFayette, where supper will be served. Gens. Glenn and Anthony and several other guests from abroad are expected.

Capt. Broadfoot's Appointment.

Gov. Fowle has appointed Capt. Jno. B. Broadfoot, of this city, a Director of the North Carolina Insane Asylum, to succeed Capt. W. S. Harris, resigned. An OBSERVER reporter called on Capt. Broadfoot immediately after hearing the news of his appointment, and was informed by the Captain that he would accept.

A good appointment, this. Though still young in years, Capt. Broadfoot is well-qualified for the responsible position, and possesses the executive ability necessary to discharge the duties of the office with credit to himself and honor to the section from which he hails.

Another Serious Fire.

On Monday morning, 19th inst., at about 5 o'clock, the handsome and commodious residence of Mr. M. E. Dye, on Ramsey street, was destroyed by fire

Only a portion of the furniture and other household effects was saved, and that in a badly damaged condition. The efficiency of the fire department was necessarily impaired by the scarcity of water.

Mr. Dye had an insurance of $2,000 on house and furniture, but his loss over and above this cannot be much less than from $800 to $1,000. The cause of the fire is not known.

"All Quiet Along the Potomac" at Hope Mills.

Capt. S. H. Cotton, of the Hope Mills cotton factories, spent the day here last Saturday, and reports everything "right side up with care" at his place. Very little if any sickness exists among the em ployes, and everything is running on schedule time.

New Dwellings.

Mr. F. W. Thornton, always active and enterprising in the work of upbuilding Fayetteville, is doing the community a service in the erection of a number of new and handsome buildings on East Maiden Lane, some of which are nearing completion.

Resigned.

Rev. Jarvis Buxton, a former resident of Fayetteville, but for 40 years rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Asheville, has resigned his charge.

Personal Pencilings.

Capt. Kingsbury has returned from a trip to Boston.

Mr. T. A. Klutz made a flying visit to Greensboro Tuesday.

Mr. Archie McQueen, of Plain View, was on our streets Tuesday.

Mr. Geo. Overbaugh left Monday for an extended trip to New York.

Miss Anna Reed, of Wilmington, is visiting Mr. T. H. Sutton's family.

Mr. H. R. Novitzky has gone North to lay in his fall stock of goods, &c.

Capt. A. B. Williams is taking in the State Fruit Fair at Winston this week.

Mr. John Roddick has returned from a pleasant visit to his old home in Wilmington.

Mr. H. McL. Poe, of Richmond, Va., is visiting his brother, Mr. E. A. Poe, in this city.

Mr. K. Lewald is in the Northern markets buying in his fall stock of dry goods, notions, &c.

Glad to meet Capt. H. L. Fry of the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. surveying corps in this city this week.

Mrs. M. D. Clark, of Manchester, was in the city last Friday, much to the delight of her many friends.

On Tuesday Mr. A. D. Black left on the steamer Cape Fear for Wilmington, to be absent several days.

Rev. Jno. M. Rose, of Greenville, S. C., is spending a few days with his father's family on Haymount.

Mr. John D. Williams has returned from an extended visit to the mountains of Piedmont North Carolina.

Miss Mary Lillie Taylor, who has been visiting friends in Hillsboro and Durham, returned home last week.

We are glad to see Mr. J. W. Morris, of the Atlantic Coast Line, returned from an extended trip down South.

Miss Nellie Fuller, of Durham, is visiting in the city, the guest of Mr. A. S. Husko's family on Dick street.

Mr. J. H. Sikes, a former citizen of this place, but now of Charleston, S. C., is in the city visiting his many friends.

Glad to see Mr. John McDuffie able to be out again after a slight stroke of paralysis which has confined him to home limits for the past few days.

Capt. John B. Broadfoot left this morning for Raleigh to attend the first meeting of the new Board of Directors of the N. C. Insane Asylum, which will be held to-day at 12 o'clock.

Mr. F. R. Rose, of the large dry goods house of Rose & Leak, is now in the Northern markets selecting a fall stock for the immense trade which the firm enjoys and eminently deserves.

Mr. F. W. Thornton left Monday morning bright and early for the Northern markets, to be absent several days, during which he expects to purchase the largest stock of dry goods and general merchandise ever brought to Fayetteville.

Mr. W. Stebbins Prior returned to Fayetteville last Saturday after a successful business trip South. He has been representing the Fayetteville Bucket Company, together with other large establishments, and it is needless to say that his business energy tells wherever he goes.

Dr. Harrell, of Columbus county, who visited Fayetteville last week on account of the meeting of the State Farmers' Alliance, gave us the pleasure of a brief call. He is a man of enlarged views, was for many years a staunch friend of the old Fayetteville OBSERVER, and still manifests a warm interest in the prosperity of our town.

Farmers' Alliance.

Supplementary to our report of last week, we give the following officers-elect of the State Farmers' Alliance for the year ensuing: President, Elias Carr, Edgecombe county; Vice-President, A. H. Hayes, Swain; Secretary, L. L. Polk, Wake; Treasurer, J. S. Allen, Wake; Lecturer, T. B. Long, Buncombe; Assistant Lecturer, R. B. Hunter, Mecklenburg; Chaplain, Rev. J. J. Scott, Robeson; Door-Keeper, W. H. Tomlinson, Cumberland; Sergeant-at-Arms, J. S. Holt, Harnett.

Prof. E. Kelly, of Moore, was recommended for the presidency of the State Agricultural College.

Largest in the State.

An OBSERVER reporter dropped into Mr. R. M. Nimocks' mammoth wholesale grocery this week, and was shown the largest pair of Howe's Suspension scales—the largest and only pair of the kind in the State. Already, Mr. Nimocks tells us, he has had applications from some of the large wholesale grocers in Wilmington for his catalogue and his ideas of its value. This is another evidence of the growing business of our wide-awake townsman, who tells us Fayetteville is doing more business to-day than at any time since the beginning of the 19th century.

Damage to the Line of Road.

President Gray estimates the damage to the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway by the recent washouts, between Greensboro and Mt. Airy, at about $20,000 in round numbers. The trains are expected to be running on schedule time from Bennettsville to Mt. Airy by the 26th inst.

The First New Cotton.

Capt. Jones exhibited the first bolls of cotton at the OBSERVER office this year. It is of the Peterkin variety, of which Capt. Jones has about 11 acres under cultivation, and he expects a yield of a bale to the acre, despite the excessive wet and unfavorable weather.

The pressure on our columns obliges us to defer several interesting communications until next week.

Interesting Services.

Large congregations filled the Baptist Church last Sunday morning and evening, and well were they repaid by the intellectual and spiritual entertainment offered to them by Rev. W. B. Oliver, of Durham, who filled the pulpit on the two occasions. While free from any reaching after effect and the egotism of mere speech-making, he is a preacher of the pure Word, gifted with the magnetism and power over the hearts and minds of his hearers that devotion and depth of feeling always give.

The interior of the Baptist Church has been recently tastefully renovated, presenting an attractive appearance, and the congregation will next Sunday consider the matter of calling a pastor.

Prof. McIver.

We were glad to receive a call last week from Prof. B. C. McIver, the Superintendent-elect of the Fayetteville Graded School. Prof. McIver is a native of Moore county and a graduate of the State University, where he taught one year as a tutor of Greek. Since he left the University he has been holding the position of first Assistant Superintendent of the Goldsboro Graded Schools, where he made a most enviable reputation as a teacher.

Our school, we are proud to say, was never on a better basis, and it behooves the people of Fayetteville to give it a hearty support. The officers and trustees have nobly done their part; and, with a full corps of competent instructors, the scholarship will be advanced to a higher grade than ever before achieved.

DIED.

GUTHRIE—At Durham, August 15, 1889, MAUDE ANDERSON, daughter of W. A. and Ella Guthrie, aged 17 years. The remains were brought here and interred in the new cemetery.

I sit with folded hands; my child is gone,
The child of love and care;
And in my loneliness I grope my way alone,
She is not here!

At morn, at noon, and in the evening late,
I miss her face,
Go where I will, I ever find
A vacant place.

So many years she claimed my love and prayers,
My tender care,
To me she ever was, as at the first,
My baby fair.

Weep not you say? Did e'er a mother's heart
Forbear to weep,
To see her baby lie so silently,
A long last sleep?

Yet in it all, God's loving hand I see.
There free from pain,
And fair and bright as angels are,
We'll meet again.

Her feet, unused to rough and untried paths,
Will walk the golden shore,
In heaven above, her tongue will sing
God's praise forevermore!

O blest eternity! Dear home of rest,
My spirit longs
For thee, and yet poor, fainting heart,
Trust, and be strong.

May Jesus, sweet comforter in life,
Give blessed peace,
And keep until beyond the care and strife
All sorrows cease!

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Is All This True?

ROSE & LEAK

claim that their one-price cash store continues to enjoy the confidence and the liberal patronage of the people of this and the surrounding sections; that new customers are constantly coming in who say: It has been whispered from one neighbor to another, and from one settlement to another, that prevail at

Rose & Leak's Cash Store.

Rose & Leak claim that it is known in the country (as it is also well known in town) that only one price is asked or received at their store, that every customer is treated exactly alike, and that no fact or article is knowingly misrepresented by any one connected with their store. ROSE & LEAK do not claim but

LESS THAN COST.

and the purchasers understand the situation, for they buy their baits but are careful to complete their purchases with ROSE & LEAK, sensibly concluding that this was the safest method. ROSE & LEAK are standing by the people and the people are standing by Rose & Leak.

ROSE & LEAK are extending their store, giving them a depth of 110 feet. They expect to continue to carry a large stock and to constantly increase their trade. They hope always to be able to keep prices down. They take this method of saying that they have refused every offer (and they have had several) to join with other merchants in restoring old prices.

Our Mr. Rose is now visiting in the Northern markets buying the largest and most complete line of Dry Goods we have ever brought to this market. Respectfully,

ROSE & LEAK.

The plan we have adopted for supplying glasses to persons who find it inconvenient to call upon us was gotten up by one of the most eminent of oculists. We have given the system test with the most gratifying results. We guarantee to fit persons with glasses by mail equally as well as if present to make their own selection, provided the instructions are followed that will be mailed to all applicants whose vision is impaired by age, which generally occurs at about the age of 40 or 45. For near-sightedness and far-sightedness and other causes consult your Physician and his prescription will be carefully filled by us.

Physicians' Prescriptions

being a new feature in our Optical Department, we will state that we are prepared to follow their instruction accurately as to lenses and frames.

THE REAPERS.

When o'er the broad, fair meadows
The westward sun sinks low,
Slowly through the deep'ning shadows,
Homeward the reapers go;
Where the little babe lies sleeping,
Safe in his simple bed,
And waiting children listen
Their father's sturdy tread.

Where the little wife is singing,
The firelight leaps and falls;
No purer songs are ringing
Through gilded palace halls.
If the nation seeketh keepers,
Brave hearts and mighty hands,
Let it turn to the toil-worn reapers,
Who garner the harvest lands.

There are those who, toil forsaking,
May dream of kingly state
Where the sword its power is making,
And pampered vassals wait.
The king is a restless sleeper,
His throne may rise or fall;
The lot of the sturdy reaper
Is the surest lot of them all.

JONES' FIRST BALE OF COTTON.

One of His Employes Tells How the Work is Done.

Atlanta Constitution.]

Martin Davis, an intelligent young negro, who brought in the first bale of cotton for Hon. Primus Jones, is a great admirer of his employer. He said:

"I tell you, Mr. Jones is the best farmer in the country. I am one of his foremost men, and have been with him since 1877. When I first went there we only made about seven to eight bales to the mule; this year we will make fully thirty bales to the plow. Next year I believe Mr. Jones will make forty-five bales to the mule, and, I declare to gracious, I am willing to bet that in three years, if that man lives, he will average fifty-five bales to the mule. The way to farm now is to manure heavy and plant lesser. Every one of the 400 acres planted in cotton is well fertilized, an average of forty bushels of compost being put upon each acre. I know you will never be a farmer, so I don't mind telling you how to make the first bale. It takes lots of work and care. Mr. Jones has all his hands up by four o'clock in the morning, and there are no idlers among them. Straggling negroes from the railroads and turpentine farms are not allowed to loaf about the place, for fear they will demoralize the hands.

"We planted this year on the fifteenth of January, not planting as usual, but putting the seed in long "lists" between two ridges. On cool mornings the stumps, logs and brush are fired, and the smoke, scattering over the field, dissipates the frost. If the frost does happen to fall, it lights upon the elevated ridges, and does not generally affect the crop lying down in the little valley between them. If the growing plants are injured by the cold, after all this care, there will be a plant here and another there. They are not plowed up, but are left standing, and the killed plants replanted with the hoe. It is these plants which produce the early cotton.

"For the bale this year we commenced picking a week ago. We went all over the fields, and upon the older stalks we could find perhaps one boll open, sometimes two. These we carefully picked, and this continued a week until enough was picked to make a bale. The cotton this year was unusually good, owing to the long drought. The seed was so green that in ginning the saws would cut clear through them, mixing them among the lint, which was thereby slightly discolored, reducing the grade. We had to gin one basket at a time. The saws would then become so gummed up from cutting into the green seed that we would have to stop ginning at the end of a basket full, and clean off the saws before commencing again.

The Grape Interest Around Raleigh.

Progressive Farmer.]

The following named gentlemen, living in and around Raleigh, are giving attention to this valuable industry: J. M. Heck, B. P. Williamson, C. B. Edwards, S. Otho Wilson, F. A. Watson, J. B. Burwell, R. H. Lewis, Womble & Bachelor Bros., H. Mahler, H. Bilyeu, M. A. Parker, Geo. Shellum, V. C. Royster and Lee & Montague.

Up to the 7th inst., the shipments from the Raleigh & Gaston depot amounted to 18,323 baskets averaging ten pounds each. These shipments were made to New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Boston, Providence and Baltimore. On the 2nd inst., 2,350 baskets were shipped. We are informed that Col. Heck is the largest shipper. He has 30 acres in vigorous bearing vines, Capt. Williamson has 4½ acres from which he has shipped 17,000 pounds, and from which he expects to ship 4,000 more—about 5,000 pounds per acre. It is sure that if he nets only one cent per pound he gets $50 per acre for this one crop, but of course he realizes a higher price. Mr. Wilson informs us that altogether he paid, this season, 25 per cent. more for packers than ever before; he got the work done better and at a saving of 50 per cent. In explanation he said that for the first time he was fortunate enough to hire nice white girls as packers. They were greatly pleased with work, and he says he will hereafter be able to get all the work done by that class. It is thought that the shipments this season will reach 250,000 to 300,000 pounds from this point. Within a few short years they will amount to millions of pounds.

We rejoice to see the success which has attended the efforts of these gentlemen. They are doing a big work for Wake and for Central Carolina. They are demonstrating the great value of the grape crop and the admirable adaptability of this section to the successful cultivation of the grape. North Carolina must and will diversify her crops more and more as our people see the advantage and profit that will acure to them.

The Browns.

Brown has a home full of girls and boys,
Rosy and healthy and full of noise.
They are sprightly at work and bright at their books,
And are noted for smartness and wit and good looks.
Brown is healthy, his wife is fair,
And their faces are free from wrinkles of care.
They spend no money for powders and pills,
And never a dollar for doctor's bills.

The reason is that they begin in the right place. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, by keeping the springs of life pure, the blood free from impurities, wards off all those diseases which spring from bad blood. The use of the "Discovery" prevents liver and kidney troubles, dyspepsia, consumption or lung scrofula, stomach and bowel troubles, and forestalls the beginning of disease. That is why the Browns are so healthy. It is also guaranteed to cure these ailments if taken in time and given a fair trial, or money paid for it will be refunded.

"Now, sir, if you want a good photograph put on a pleasant expression. Think of something agreeable. Think of your wife."

The Victim (severely, but without changing his pose)—I have just been divorced, sir.

"Ah, is that so? Well, then, think of the divorce."

How to Cure Jumping Cattle.

Statesville Landmark.]

The following item has been floating around in the papers for some time. We give it for what it is worth:

A south Georgia farmer says he prevents his cows from jumping a fence by cutting off their lower eye-lashes. This makes the fence appear to be about three times higher than it is.—Savannah (Ga.) News.

Mr. Lee Morrow, who lives near town, told the writer some time ago that sheep could be cured of jumping by tying their ears back. He says when a sheep goes to jump he will walk up to the fence, then run back a few yards, throw his ears forward and bound over. If his ears are tied back so he can't throw them forward he won't jump. Mr. Morrow, we believe, has never tried the experiment, but he says his sheep never jump and the man from whom he got the breed told him they were cured in that way.

CHOWAN
Baptist Female Institute,
MURFREESBORO, N. C.
Attention is called to the following facts:
FIRST. Only experienced teachers who have had special preparation for their work are placed in charge of the different departments, consequently the high grade of scholarship in all the departments.
SECOND. The location was selected in preference to many others because of the reputation of Murfreesboro for health, and the beauty of the situation. A recent visitor pronounces it the most beautiful spot he has seen in North Carolina.
THIRD. The health record of the young ladies is very gratifying. For years the average of doctor's bills has been only twenty-five cents per capita. During the last session, there was no case of sickness so serious as to need the services of a physician.
FOURTH. Before the opening of the fall term, ten new rooms will be added and the dormitories will be furnished and carpeted. Only two young ladies will occupy the same room.
FIFTH. If a class of ten can be secured, arrangements have been made to have young ladies instructed in telegraphy and type-writing at a moderate cost.
SIXTH. The charges are as moderate as they can be made for the advantages offered. For these charges please see catalogue.
SEVENTH. Murfreesboro is seven miles from Conway, a station on the Roanoke and Tar River Railroad, which is a branch of the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad. A line of hacks connect the two places. It is fourteen miles from Norfolk and Carolina Railroad, with which it will be connected by steamers so soon as the road is completed to the Chowan River which will be about August 15th. This route will open up all Eastern Carolina, making the Institute most accessable to parties on all lines of road connecting with the Norfolk and Carolina Road.

A Valuable Farm
FOR SALE.
This farm lies 3 miles west of the town limits on Buckhead Creek, and contains 400 acres of land of which about 150 is cleared and in a fine state of cultivation. Upon this farm is two dwellings containing four rooms each; three tenement houses; two wells of fine water; one steam gin in good order; one fish pond of three acres and well stocked with best variety of fish; a fine young orchard of first-class fruit-trees and a quantity of select grape vines. This farm is well adapted to corn and cotton, and can be made a most beautiful summer residence. For particulars apply to CHAS. GLOVER,
